Administrative/Biographical History: The earliest constitution we have record of was amended in 1990. This constitution states that, "The Professional Staff shall concern itself with anything which affects the educational function of the College and shall make recommendations relative to such concerns to the President of the College as chief administrative officer of the college." The 1999 constitution changed the name of the organization from "Professional Staff" to "Professional Association". The most recent constitution was revised in 2011.

There are currently twelve standing committees: Curriculum committee, Academic Standards committee, Instructional Technology committee, Library committee, Scholarship & Awards committee, Faculty & Professional Staff Handbook committee, College Affairs committee, Professional Standards committee, Long-Range Planning committee, Honors committee, Professional Development committee, and Learning Communities committee. See article IX of the Professional Association Constitution for a detailed explanation of these committees.

Names of senators and persons on standing-committees can be found within meeting minute packets in both the Professional Association Meetings, as well as Senate meetings, usually in the first meeting of the fall semester (August or September).

Relationship to the Senate: The Senate may be overruled by a majority vote of the Professional Association at any Professional Association meeting. The Senate conducts the business of the Professional Association.

Meetings are held twice a semester.

System of Arrangement: Chronologically by year, then month.
