

Investment advisor leads classes at HCC

Jeffery Still, a registered investment advisor and licensed fiduciary based in Hadley, will teach two classes this fall at Holyoke Community College with sessions for each topic offered both on the Holyoke campus and at the Ware location.

“Index Funds & Classic Concepts of Investing” will be offered on the Ware campus on Mondays, Sept. 24 and Oct. 1, from 6 to 8:30 p.m. and on the Holyoke campus Mondays, Nov. 19 and 26, also from 6 to 8:30 p.m.

This course will look at strategies for managing stock market volatility and expand volatile market, Still will discuss concepts of investing, investment fundamentals, implementation, and guarantees.

JEFFERY STILL

Still will also offer “Achieving a Financially Secure Future” on Mondays, Oct. 15 and 22 from 6 to 8:30 p.m. on the participants’ knowledge of index funds and comprehensive investment strategies. In addition to discussing how to manage the Ware campus and Mondays, Dec. 3 and 10 at the same time on the Holyoke campus.

Participants will learn how to build a strong financial foundation and create and set goals for retirement using time-tested principals of sound investing – whether or not they have started planning for the future. Still will discuss risks and options to mitigate them, what impact taxes can have on retirement savings, and what makes a tax-efficient strategy.

The cost is $49 per class.

To register for one of Still’s courses, go online to hcc.edu/courses-and-pro- grams/personal-enrichment.

Still offers services through Eagle Strategies, of Hadley. He is also a registered representative offering securities through New York Life Securities.

He has built a practice in Western Massachusetts that focuses on working with individuals and small business owners. Since 2013, Still has been a member of New York Life’s Executive Council. He belongs to the Greater Northampton Chamber of Commerce. Still is a longtime resident of the region and currently lives in Granby.