

HOLYOKE

Registration open for HCC summer sessions

Registration is underway for summer session courses at Holyoke Community College.

Three- and four-credit summer classes are offered in two four-week sessions and one full-term, seven-week session – on campus, online and blended.

The first summer session begins on June 3 (ending June 27 through July 3), while the second session begins on July 8 (with classes ending the week of Aug. 1). The full-term summer session begins June 3 and 4 with classes ending the week of July 17.

HCC's comprehensive, summer academic program comprises nearly 200 course sections in 38 academic areas including accounting, American Sign Language, anthropology, art, biology, business administration, chemistry, communications, community health, criminal justice, culinary arts, earth science, economics, engineering, English, academic English as a Second Language, environmental science, forensic science, general studies, gerontology, health, health information management, history, human services, law, management, marketing, math, medical assisting, music, nutrition, philosophy, political science, SEM (science, engineering and math), psychology, sociology, Spanish and sustainability.

"Summer classes present an excellent opportunity for students to get a jump on the fall semester, stay on track for graduation, or explore something entirely new," said Monica Perez, vice president of academic affairs.

A complete listing of course descriptions and summer class schedules is available on the college website, hcc.edu/registration.

To enroll, go online to hcc.edu/apply. For more information, go online to hcc.edu/admission or call 413-552-2321.

Registration is underway for summer session courses at Holyoke Community College.